Based in Makassar, Indonesia

A skilled front-end and cloud computing developer with expertise in PHP, JavaScript, TypeScript, and cloud technologies. With over two years of experience, I have contributed to projects involving RESTful APIs, cloud-based deployments (Google Cloud Platform), and UI/UX design. Strong background in project management, leadership, and cross-functional collaboration, ensuring the delivery of scalable, high-quality software solutions. Passionate about problem-solving and optimizing digital experiences through innovative and efficient development practices. Actively seeking opportunities in cloud computing, front-end development, and AI-driven applications, where I can leverage my technical expertise and leadership skills to drive innovation.
